

BODEGAS SAN ROQUE

Located in Elvillar de Alava at an altitude of 585 meters (1,919 ft), the San Roque winery was founded more than 60 years ago with a mission to preserve the local cultural legacy of winemaking. For generations this small town has passed a viticultural philosophy from father to son that prizes stewardship of the land above all else. This wisdom and the embrace of modern techniques embody the spirit of Cota 585.

With more than 875 acres of old vineyards protected by the Cantabrian mountain range in the center of Rioja Alavesa, Cota 585 is produced. At this altitude of 585 meters the vines are subjected to consistent winds that prevent rot and disease, and allow them to slowly build healthy, flavorful fruit. The chalky soil found in these hills are unique to this area and help to produce distinctive Tempranillo grapes for the production of an original wine.

Wine Imported by Scoperta: Cota 585